MAKING THINGS BETTER

GreyStone has been focused on making things better ... together. During a time when many of our members are concerned about the ability to pay their bills, your cooperative has taken steps to lessen the financial impact of the coronavirus (COVID-19) on members.

We continue to work with members on a case-by-case basis during this challenging time.

Not only are we focused on working with our members, but your co-op also wants to help you save energy, which in turn helps you save money. You can find energy-saving tips throughout our Facebook page and Instagram. Also, visit greystonepower.com/energyaudits to find our DIY home energy audit.

The GreyStone Power Marketplace will be launching soon. Members will be able to purchase energy-efficient items, such as LED lightbulbs, showerheads and smart thermostats. The Marketplace is just another way GreyStone is striving to make things better.

Your co-op also understands that we are in uncertain times. We are here to work with our members as you navigate today's economic climate. If you have any concerns about your balance, please reach out to our member services department. Our reps are available Monday through Friday, 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., by emailing memberservices@greystonepower.com or calling 770-942-6576.

Concern for community is one of the Seven Cooperative Principles, and you can rest assured that GreyStone is here to make things better ... together.

Making things better ... Together

Even though times are tough, we're going to make it through this together.

For more information on COVID-19, visit our website or follow us on Facebook @greystonepower.

The following can also help make things better:

- Save energy during these times at home, when electricity use can increase. Our website offers multiple tips and tools.
- Pay your bill at greystonepower.com, through the GreyStone Power payment app or by calling 770-942-6576. Fee-free payment methods include mailing a check, using our payment kiosks, or paying by bank or credit/debit card draft. Members may also pay at our drive-thru or drop off checks at the night drop located at our Douglasville headquarters.
- Contact our member services department Monday through Friday, 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., by emailing memberservices@greystonepower.com or calling 770-942-6576.
- Support local businesses. Your Co-op Connections® Card can help.
